

AUTHOR-ILLUSTRATOR

RACHEL ELLIOTT

WORKSHOPS and SCHOOL VISITS

I'm happy to bring workshops to your class or community organization! Please contact me with your budget, school or organization information, and type of activity you'd like to schedule.

Email Rachel at re@rachelelliott.me

“The Making of The Real Riley Mayes” Presentation for as many attendees as you like!

Half-hour presentation with a Q+A afterward.
Highlights the importance of research and revision in creating illustrated fiction, and features special behind-the-scenes sketches and materials.

One-Hour Workshops for 30 or fewer attendees.

Mini-Zines

Fold, write, and illustrate your own mini-books. Unfold the minibook to easily photocopy and share your zine.

Launching Your Own School Zine

Want to start a zine? This brainstorming session gets you started with a title, mission, contents, and “open for submissions” flyer.

Inventing Comic Characters

Play “animal + occupation + emotion” and invent your own characters for comics.

Thought Clouds and Speech Balloons

Ever had an awkward or confusing conversation? Drawing a comic with speech balloons and thought clouds can help you make sense of what to say next. Great for social-emotional learning.

